LIBERTY FAIR OPENS

Nearly 10,000 soldiers and sailors, on a measured tramp through the streets of Los Angeles, announced the opening of the California Liberty Fair on Wednesday morning, December 4th. The pageant reached the grounds at 1:30 o'clock, and Director-General E. W. Pridham formally opened the grounds to the thousands who thronged the Exposition Park in anticipation of the opening of the groups of exhibits.

Governor William D. Stephens made the opening address. Mayor Frederic T. Woodman spoke for the city of Los Angeles. Ralph P. Merritt, Federal Food Administrator for California, was the orator of the day and his remarks dealt with the food conservation problem, which he declared is more important now that the war is over, because of the necessity of feeding all of the countries of Europe, where starving thousands are waiting for supplies.

With the formalities over, the crowd found its way to the different exhibits. The U. S. Government exhibit was one of the chief attractions, while each of the thirty-one buildings had its share of visitors.

Champ S. Vance, Grand Marshal, who is in charge of the special events, announced a new feature for each of the eleven days of the Fair.

POST AND CORPS ELECTION

The annual election of officers of N. P. Banks W. R. C. will be held Friday afternoon, December 13th, at 2:15, while the G. A. R. Post will hold their election Saturday, December 14th, at 2:00 p. m.

TROPICO FUEL AND FEED STORE CHANGES HANDS

S. A. Davis has sold the Tropico Fuel and Feed Store to a Mr. Tupper, of Iowa, possession being given on Monday. As Mr. Tupper was unable to arrange his Iowa affairs in time, the business is now in charge of T. W. Curl, who for three and one-half years was associated with Mr. Davis as a partner.

Mr. Davis has been in the business here for nearly five years, and has built up a flourishing trade, but thinks he has found something that suits him better in the shape of a hardware store located at Vermont Avenue and 48th Street, Los Angeles, which he recently purchased.

We are glad to know that the Davis family will continue to make Glendale their home, at least for the present. They have a nice residence on South Central, and are closely identified in the social life of their locality. Mr. Davis has always been especially interested in municipal affairs, being on the side of those interested in giving the city an honest, economical government, and we hope that we will not lose him through this change.

LARGE OFFERING

At the Thanksgiving service held at the First M. E. Church, an offering was made for the Armenian and Syrian Relief work. Rev. C. A. Cole and Rev. O. P. Rider spoke in behalf of the sufferers, and that they made a telling exposition of the need is shown by the report that the offering amounted to $128.68.

FUNERAL SERVICES OF A. W. COLLINS

Funeral services in memory of A. W. Collins were held Thursday afternoon in the chapel of the Scovern-Letton-Frey Co., conducted by Rev. O. P. Rider, assisted by Chaplain Norton, of N. P. Banks Post, after which interment was made in Grand View Cemetery, with the Masonic Lodge officiating.

A. W. Collins came to Tropico about 15 years ago and took an active part in the many municipal and social affairs of the city, being at different times president of the following associations: Local Improvement Society, Board of Education of Glendale Union High School, and the Tropico water Company, and also a member of N. P. Banks Post and the Masonic Lodge.

For the past few years, Mr. Collins has been in poor health, and at the time of his death was residing at the Soldiers' Home at Sawtelle. He was past 74 years of age.

MARRIED

W. Wibeltz and Miss May Rich sprang a surprise on their many friends Monday, by slipping away to Los Angeles, where they were quietly married, and will soon be "at home" in the Wibeltz residence on San Fernando Road.

The happy couple need no introduction to our readers, being well and favorably known by the entire community, who will join us in "congratulations and best wishes."

A YEAR OLD! WE THANK YOU.

With this issue the Herald is celebrating its birthday, and beginning the second year of its publication. One short year ago, when the Tropico Sentinel ceased to be, we, with many others, voiced the sentiment that this section needed a medium through which its doings, aims and achievements could be regularly chronicled, and with that purpose commenced the publication of the Tropico Herald.

In some ways, our expectations have been more than realized, and we look back with a certain degree of satisfaction over the records of the past year, in which mighty events have taken place, and in which we have endeavored to do a humble part.

Locally, Tropico, while known as a part of Glendale, is still a power. We have two good active members to represent us on the Board of City Trustees, and citizens of this locality are taking an active part in all community transactions.

There is no need of losing our individuality, but like Hollywood or many of the other recent annexations to Los Angeles, can retain not only the old name, but have a civic pride in it.

To our advertisers, who represent the successful, live business firms of the community, we extend our sincere thanks. Your patronage has made possible our success, and we request our readers to remember the fact in bestowing their patronage.

With best wishes to all our readers at this Holiday season, we again thank you and ask a continuance of the many favors shown us during the past year.

PROCEEDINGS OF BOARD OF TRUSTEES

The Board assembled at 8:30 Thursday night, all members present. The minutes of the last regular meeting were read and approved.

Mr. M. D. Learned and others appeared before the meeting and presented a petition asking that the Board of Trustees order a special election to be held in the territory described in the petition, to determine whether said territory should be annexed to the City of Glendale. The petition was read and the chairman called upon Mrs. Nettie Elspaman, who, being duly sworn, testified that she had secured 19 of the signatures to the petition, that all are qualified voters and residents of the territory described, and that all were made familiar with the purport of the petition which they signed. Mrs. Emma L. Asbury testified that she had secured 11 of the signatures attached to the petition, all being signatures of residents of the territory described and citizens of the same and fully aware of the contents and purport of the petition. On motion of Trustee Shaw the petition was referred to the City Clerk to check up the names upon the Great Register of the County, and to certify as to their sufficiency, all voting aye.

A communication was read from Miss Hazel Maxson, requesting that a certain street light be installed on West Palmer Avenue. Accompanying the communication was a note from the Manager of the Public Service Department, stating that the cost for the installation of the said light would be about $35.00, and also stating that in view of the approaching purchase of this system by the city, it would probably be necessary for the Public Service Department to set the lamp. On motion of Trustee Shaw, the same was referred to the Committee of the Whole.

A communication was read from J. A. Endicott, street assessment and bond specialist, giving a list of references in regard to his work, and making application for employment by the City when any such work is required. The communication was ordered to be filed.

A petition was read signed by thirty-two residents of Ruth Street, asking that the name of that street be changed to Palm Drive. On motion of Trustee Henry, it was ordered that the request be complied with and the change be embodied in an ordinance changing the names of certain streets, all voting aye.

A communication was read from F. D. Lanterman, chairman of the local exemption board, calling the attention of the Board to certain telephone bills, which in his belief had been presented to the board in error, and re-

CHANGES IN THE FOOD SITUATION

The Branch Library has just received a copy of the address by Herbert Hoover before the Conference of federal food administrators, Washington, November 12.

In this address he makes it plain that a broad food survey of the world's supply and demand must be made, and after doing this he sums up the situation in a "World's balance sheet." This balance shows that of wheat and rye there are sufficient supplies with economy. Of high protein foods (for dairy animals) a shortage of about 3,000,000 tons. Of beans, peas and rice, sufficient supplies with economy. Of beef products, dairy products and vegetable oils a shortage of about 3,000,000,000 pounds. Of beef, sufficient supplies to load all refrigerating ships' capacity. Of sugar, sufficient supplies for normal consumption if other nations retain their present short rations.

The change in the wheat and sugar situation is mainly due to the release of great quantities of shipping formerly needed for the transport of troops and war supplies now available for the export of surplus products, especially in the South American countries and Australia.

We see from the foregoing balance sheet that we can with a clear conscience indulge more freely in wheat flour and sugar, but we also realize that the very utmost saving possible must be practiced in the consumption of butter, canned milk and fats of all kinds, as there is a greater shortage in this class of products than any other.

Mr. Hoover brought out in his address the great good which the food administration has accomplished in the regulation of prices and the prevention of profiteering.

He emphasized the need of some kind of food administration for the coming year to coordinate the transportation of our exports with our domestic distribution and to insure an equitable distribution of foodstuffs to the countries in Europe ravaged by the ruthless Hun.

It is the part of each individual family to study thrift, economy, and food values to the utmost in furtherance of this campaign for world relief.

Attention is again called to the fact that the Branch Library has many excellent books on this subject and the main Library has a still larger collection.

CHAS. H. CUSHING,
Branch Librarian.

SUPERINTENDENT WHITE RETURNS

Richardson D. White, superintendent of schools of Glendale, who has been in training at Fort MacArthur, returned to Glendale and to his work last Monday. He has not yet been discharged from the service, but has been given a furlough of thirty days, and expects to receive his discharge by the time that period has elapsed. As it happens, Mr. White has missed almost no time from his school work, as the influenza epidemic kept the schools closed during his absence.

Mr. White states that no plan has yet been adopted for making up the time lost by the schools, but the different school organizations will take the matter up, and a uniform scheme will probably be adopted by all the schools of this part of the state. As it is, the school day is slightly longer than it was last year.

UNITED STATES TELLS YOU HOW TO KEEP WELL

A finely printed and beautifully illustrated book of 250 pages has recently been published by the United States government, which treats of prevention of disease and care of the sick, how to keep well and what to do in case of sudden illness, and with a supplement on first aid to the injured. This work ought to be in every home, for familiarity with its contents may at any time save the life of a loved one. A copy will be sent free to those who will address a letter to Congressman Charles H. Randall at Washington, D. C.

AN ENJOYABLE HOUSEWARMING

Thursday evening Mrs. Louise Purnell threw open her beautiful spacious home at 337 Riverdale Drive to the members of the G. A. R. and W. R. C., the event being in the nature of a housewarming, to celebrate Mrs. Purnell's removal to this home from her former residence on Tenth Street.

The hour set for the arrival of the guests was 6 p. m., but Comrade Samuel Parker got there ahead of time, and amid much hilarity was made welcome to the pre-supper luncheon served to the ladies who were assisting the hostess.

During the evening the company enjoyed a talk by Mr. Russ Martin, of Stanton Post, of Los Angeles, who outlined what the posts are planning to do for our boys when they return from "over there." Tom Hall, also of Stanton Post, gave a humorous talk of his trials and journeys even to the "foot-hills" in his efforts to find the Purnell home. Mrs. Eustace Moore gave several readings, which were much enjoyed and encored. Miss Dorothy Armstrong and Mrs. Marlanee delighted their hearers with duets on violin and piano. Brother Henry, accompanied by his daughter, Mrs. Crawford, sang several songs, which always pleases his listeners. Rev. Norton voiced the thanks and appreciation of those present to their hostess for their delightful evening, and closed by a united cheer for her hospitality.

The house was made lovely with its decorations of patriotic colors and chrysanthemums, and during the evening a delicious buffet luncheon was served to the 77 guests, and it was like the Bible story in which all were filled, but still fragments were left to feed several others, which was distributed to several families the next morning.

Mrs. F. C. Charles entertained at Thanksgiving dinner Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Culley and Misses Hazel Gittings and Florence Stuart.

✦ RED CROSS NOTES ✦

A special request is made for canned fruit or vegetables at the Salvage Salesroom.

The Salvage Department is greatly in need of donations, both large and small. Christmas gifts, children's toys, knick knacks, etc., especially at this season. Bring some dolls.

Come everybody, and enjoy the afternoon tea at the Salvage Salesroom, Payne Block, on Wednesday, December 11th.

Don't Forget the Date.

We are greatly indebted to Major and Mrs. John C. Payne for the use of our wonderful room for salvage, which has been in common use since last July, and where we hope to continue our salvage salesroom department for many months to come.

After December 11th, the Salvage Salesroom will be open every afternoon from 2 p. m. until 5 p. m. until Christmas. There will also be some arrangement made to keep open a few evenings. So come and make yourself happy and "browse around." You may find something quite worth your while.

The Grand All-Day Opening of the Salvage Salesroom will take place on Wednesday, December 11th, in the Spacious room in the Payne Block (So commonly and mistakenly called the Mercantile Building), No. 1231 San Fernando Road, corner Central.

We will open at 10 a. m.

Los Angeles W. C. T. U. held its first meeting on Thursday. Mrs. H. F. Kidd was the speaker, on the topic of the Southern California Home. A collection of $32 was given to the Home. The treasurer's report showed a paid-up membership of 389, 73 new members, and 17 deceased. A Red Cross social will be held Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Belle Mulford, at which contributions of money and linen will be received.

Leo Light and Louie Lambermont came up from camp this week for a short visit.

W. L. Taylor, editor and publisher of the Tri-Weekly Star, published at Orange, and Luron Habens, of Santa Barbara, were visitors at the Lovell home on Sunday. The Herald man acknowledges a pleasant call and a mutual interchange of "shop talk."

F. B. Walker, the efficient superintendent of the Glendale post office has been obliged by orders of his physician to give up the work for a while and recuperate. The work at the office here has been extremely heavy, and like all other places, has had its share of the prevailing malady. In his anxiety to keep the service up to its highest point of efficiency, Mr. Walker worked early and late. As one of his carriers expressed it, "He was the first man on the job in the morning and the last to leave at night," with the result that, strong as he was, nature could not stand the strain. His many friends among the patrons of the office, to whom he was always courteous and obliging, will join with us in wishing him a speedy recovery. During his absence, Postal Clerk Muhleman will have charge of the office.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS

The regular annual meeting of the Red Cross, which should have been held in November, will be held next Tuesday, December 10th, in the rooms at the City Hall, at 7:30 p. m.

There is much important business to transact, including election of officers, and a full attendance is requested.

NEW BOOKS AT THE LIBRARY

The Branch Library has just added to its collection a set of the works of W. S. Porter, better known as O. Henry. The set is accompanied by a biography of Mr. Porter (O. Henry), written by Professor Alphonso Smith.

In reading this biography, we find that literary critics best competent to judge consider him a master of the short story.

He had a deep insight into human nature, and rare humor, and the gift of saying a great deal in a few words, while perhaps his most distinctive characteristic as a writer was his faculty of surprising.

These are the titles of his works:

Roads of Destiny.
Sixes and Sevens.
The Four Million.
Heart of the West.
Whirligigs.
Rolling Stones.
The Trimmed Lamp.
The Voice of the City.
Options.
Cabbages and Kings.
The Gentle Grafter.
Strictly Business.

Two new Jack London books just added are South Sea Tales, and Martin Eden.

The patrons of the library seem to be greatly enjoying its privileges again since the "flu" ban has been lifted.

MEMORIAL SERVICES

Elks Hold Annual Service for the Departed

The annual memorial service of Glendale Lodge No. 1289 B. P. O. E. was held last Sunday afternoon at the club house, in memory of those members of the lodge who have died during the year. An address was made by Mr. Tichnor, of Pasadena, who paid eloquent tribute to the departed, and especially those who had died in the service of their country.

The White Star Patrol, under the leadership of Captain Wattles, escorted the officers to their stations, there was special music, and the service was impressive in every way. Following are the names of those who have passed away since the last service of this nature:

J. H. Reagan, J. W. Parker, C. B. Cunningham, Henry G. Pettit, Hans Grass, L. A. Fargo, Henry Nolen, Wm. Herman West, George C. Hollister, Eugene Glane, J. H. Stacey, Raymond A. Booth, J. T. Merrill, T. C. Malone, Bernard Touhey, James M. Sawyers, Young D. Brooks, E. J. Phelan, Mark T. Johnson, Lester L. Meyer, E. M. McClure, Claude B. Robinson, Wm. True Boardman, Clarence L. Ball, George LaCour, L. F. Kirri, Lister Silva, J. H. Sargent, Walter Whitworth.

TOURNAMENT OF ROSES

Adopting a suggestion made by the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, all Southern California is invited to join with Pasadena in making her great Victory Rose Tournament New Year's Day an epochal one, celebrating not only California's preeminence as a place of summer climate and flowers in mid-winter, but striking a deeper note in joyous celebration of the coming of peace.

The floral pageant in the morning will be even more wonderful than in past years, and the football game in the afternoon, for the army and navy championship of America, will be one of the most spectacular gridiron battles in the history of the sport. The crowds witnessing both morning and evening events undoubtedly will break all existing records, and the Rose Tournament Association believes that the community which fails to enter a float in the magnificent floral parade will be overlooking an advertising opportunity seldom equaled.

With the years the Rose Tournament has grown, until it is no longer a community affair. It is nationally, even internationally famous, and advertises to the whole world that throughout Southern California delightful climatic conditions prevail, at a time when other parts of the continent are held in the bonds of ice and snow. Its benefits are felt in other communities of the South to as great an extent as in Pasadena.

Men in uniform will be guests of honor of the Rose Tournament Association throughout the day, and special reserved seats will be provided for them without charge at the football game. The game will be between the Great Lakes team, champions of the East, and a Pacific Coast team yet to be selected by a series of elimination contests. The Mare Island Marines and Mare Island Aviators are among the most promising of the Western contenders.

The brilliant Rose Tournament ball in the evening will be the concluding feature of the day.

NEW BOOK FOR FRUIT GROWERS

A new handsomely illustrated volume has recently been issued by the experts employed by the government entitled "Information for Fruit Growers About Insecticides, Spraying Apparatus, and Important Insect Pests." The book contains one hundred pages and seems to treat every conceivable phase of the care and growth of fruit trees and vines. A copy will be sent to any interested resident of the Ninth Congressional District by Congressman Charles H. Randall, whose address is Washington, D. C.

TRUSTEES BANQUET

The Glendale board of trustees met informally at the Jewel City Cafe Tuesday evening, for a dinner and a discussion of some of the problems now confronting them. The following paper was read by Chairman Woodberry, and the matters which he presents were talked over:
Gentlemen:

The great war, which has changed or at least disturbed the even tenor of the way of practically all the peoples of the globe, is at last happily ended, and to us comes the opportunity to resume those functions of our government which have been held in abeyance while all were engaged in the one and only absorbing effort, the winning of the war.

Because of the many desirable and worthy objects which our little city may, with proper civic pride, look forward to accomplishing in the future, and equally because, for financial reasons if no others, it will be impossible to "carry on" for all of them at once, I have asked you to meet this evening and devote the time to consideration of any or all of the general problems before us to the end that we may, if possible, map out and decide on a definite program beyond our routine duties, and consisting of such of those many things desirable for Glendale as we may consistently hope to accomplish.

Government has been defined by some pessimistic person as a necessary evil—necessary because the millennium has not yet arrived, and evil because its power is so often misused and abused, and the people required to contribute for downright extravagance and waste, or worse. Glendale, though a community of probably 14,000 inhabitants, is yet operating under the state provisions provided for towns of the smallest size legally competent to incorporate and therefore, the jurisdiction of its government does not extend to some important matters—notably that of control of her schools; also the power to do those things which special charters provide for in those cities which have adopted them. Nevertheless we have many important matters to control and direct in such manner if possible, as to merit the approval of our citizens and the commendation of the stranger within our gates. Prominent among them is the protection of the people and their homes from violence and disorder. The City Marshal and his police force, with the City Recorder, are provided for such a purpose, and as at present organized, we have no reason to expect other than efficiency. Then comes protection from fire and when the apparatus now being constructed for the city is completed, and delivered, there would seem to be no doubt we are adequately provided for, if we supplement the apparatus with the force necessary to operate it effectively—this phase of the question should be carefully considered. Next, might be mentioned the protection of the health of our citizens. Undoubtedly California, more especially of the south, is naturally one of the most healthy places in which to live that can be found, and we have an efficient and active health department. Nevertheless, one of our most perplexing and important duties, and I might say problems, is right along this line and the manner in which it is solved means a great deal to us and to the city. I urge upon each individual member of the Board to fully acquaint himself with all conditions pertaining to the question that we may make no mistake in our future work.

Then comes the construction and keeping in repair of our streets and highways and probably there is no other department in which we are justified, in fact, required to expend so large an amount of the people's money as in this. It is an age of rapid transit and unless the aisles of the air are to become the highways of the future the problem of traffic requirements will become more and more pressing. It is sure that in no other one way are we so quickly judged by the world at large as by the condition of our thoroughfares, and in no other department is there need for greater care and efficiency and true economy in the expenditure of funds. We can now resume the proceedings for the completion of those projects along this line which have been interrupted by the war and if prices are not too great, push them to completion; this is of great importance to the city as a whole, and should be given earnest consideration.

I wish to suggest in the way of desirable street work for the future, the following: The improvement of West Broadway from the former city limits to San Fernando Road to correspond with the balance of said road and that efforts be renewed to extend Broadway to Griffith Park. We shall increasingly need this additional and convenient entrance to this fine park located almost at our doors. To exert such influence as we may to speed up the work of providing and completing a fine highway to Los Angeles via the new bridge across the Los Angeles river and thence through Edendale, this highway is especially needed and the city has contributed the sum of $800.00 toward the construction of the bridge; in conjunction with this highway as it enters Glendale's "Gateway" should be provided suitable connections leading to all parts of our city by way of San Fernando Road, Brand Boulevard, Glendale Avenue, and a new street to connect with the present terminus of the proposed Sycamore Canyon Road. A diversion of the traffic of San Fernando Road to Pacific Avenue, thence to Broadway and from Broadway to open a new street if possible to connect again with San Fernando Road at the city pumping plant. There are a number of reasons for a new main route of travel, but the principal ones are that several dangerous turns would be eliminated and that the territory situated along the east side of San Fernando road and adjacent to the Southern Pacific tracks would become available as desirable locations for such businesses as are usually carried on in what is known as an industrial district. One of our greatest needs seems to be a definitely settled permanent industrial district, and this section, though otherwise available, is barred because of the necessity of numerous spur tracks from the railway which would have to cross what is now one of our most traveled highways.

Previous to cessation of our pre-war activities, the people requested that we add to our municipal ownership of public utilities by acquiring a gas system, and much preliminary work had been done. Renewal of effort to comply with the request should now be made; also in connection with our public utilities arises the question of when shall we be able to provide the reservoir and high line water system so badly needed by the foothill section. If it is going to continue to be impossible to provide for such a system out of the ordinary income and profits of the department, should we not consider some other method?

Among other highly desirable things which Glendale needs, but which should take their initiative, at least, in some citizens' organization, is that of a park or parks. It is to be feared that in the future, when it is too late to secure sites at reasonable prices at all, the citizens will cast reflections on the lack of foresight of us of today in overlooking this most important matter; also something should certainly be done to provide suitable home-town amusements or a recreation center for the leisure time of our young people; congregating on the street corners with nothing to do and no supervision other than the police is not conducive to the formation of habits or character such as are most to be desired in the citizenship of a self-governing people. Whether this board can take up this line of work and secure results is a question.

Another question of great importance to Glendale is a purely local one, and arises because of our peculiar situation in regard to the flood waters which from time to time descend upon us from the Crescenta-Canada Valley and threaten to spread disaster over our city. Proceedings are now under way to correct the very bad conditions existing where the "wash" crosses Brand Boulevard and to the west; but the entire course of this "wash" from Fernando Road to the northerly end of Verdugo Canyon should be put in the best possible condition to prevent an overflow, and our city government should not for a moment discount the importance of action along this line. I would suggest public ownership of a sufficient right of way for this flood water, which would enable the city to keep the deposit of sand, gravel, etc., cleared out, and the proceeds of the sale of this material could be applied in maintaining the channel.

Many cities find it a good business policy to maintain suitable parking privileges for the ever-increasing number of tourists who leisurely motor over the roads and highways of our state, especially should Glendale provide one or more such places in the absence of suitable hotels for their accommodation.

In conclusion, let me suggest that inasmuch as the people of Glendale have assumed a certain amount of responsibility for our conduct of municipal affairs in electing us to the positions we fill, we, as a board, make known our desire to receive from them such advice and constructive criticism as will tend to advance the best interests of the city as a whole and also express the desire that they in no manner let factional or sectional differences of opinion interfere with our progress along the civic road, which has many difficulties at best.

ferring the matter back to the Board of Trustees. The same was referred to the City Manager to report as to the amount, etc.

Reports were presented by the following City Officers: Recorder, Building Inspector, Health Officer and Tax Collector.

Applications for exemptions under the soldiers' exemption act accompanied by affidavits recently filed were received from Irvin J. Spafford, Julia R. Beers, and Mrs. Samuel Webb. On motion of Trustee Henry, the requests for exemption were granted and ordered to be received as if filed in strict accordance with the law.

The City Manager reported that the fire engine purchased of the American La France Co. would probably be shipped during the present month.

The City Clerk presented the bond of City Marshal John P. Lampert, which was approved by the City Attorney and ordered to be filed.

On motion of Trustee Shaw the City Clerk was ordered to advertise for bids for a one-ton motor truck for the use of the street department, all voting aye.

The City Attorney reported that the suit involving the water rights in which the City of Glendale is interested, comes up in the Superior Court on December 9th, 1918.

The Manager of the Public Service Department reported that his department had advanced to Ornamental Street Lighting Fund No. 6, the sum of $22.50, requesting that the department be reimbursed. On motion of Trustee Shaw it was ordered that the sum of $22.50 be transferred from Ornamental Street Lighting Fund No. 6 to Public Service Fund, all voting aye.

The Manager of the Public Service Department reported that the Government has withdrawn its objection to certain work in the way of extension in the Public Service Department.

On motion of Trustee Shaw, the Manager of the Public Service Department was requested to make a report as to the amount of money that would probably be required to provide the City with high line reservoirs to supply the higher portions of the City. Adjourned.
